

20,000 IN MONSTER SONG SERVICE OPEN CITY'S CELEBRATION

Wilmington Settles Down to Festivities of Old Home Week - 10,000 Visitors Expected Each Day.

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 12.—This city is crowded with visitors today. If there is any mistake in the expectation that 10,000 visitors will be entertained each day this week, it is because that estimate will have been too low.

After 20,000 persons opened the celebration yesterday afternoon with a song service, Wilmington settled down to its celebration. Today marks the annual parade of the Italian societies of the city in honor of Columbus Day, a legal holiday in this State. The parade this afternoon is wholly in charge of these societies. At least 2000 members, with their bands, were in line. Mayor Harrison W. Howell, members of the committee and numerous city officials witnessed the parade from the big reviewing stand in front of the courthouse.

Old Home Week will be opened formally this evening at the Hotel duPont, when Mayor Howell will tender a public reception. He will be assisted by members of the general committee, city councilmen and other city officials. It is expected that Governor Charles R. Miller and other State officials also will be present. For those who do not attend the reception tonight, band concerts will be held in parts of the city.

A great part of today was spent by members of various organizations in drilling for the parades. The various committees met to put the final touches to arrangements for these events.

School children of the city are ready for their parade tomorrow afternoon when it is expected 11,000 boys and girls, each carrying a flag or pennant, and many floats will be in line. The chief marshal of this parade is Thomas P. O'Donnell, a member of the Board of Public Education. He will be assisted by a number of aids, most of them students in the Wilmington high schools.

Members of the Wilmington Saengerbund will give an athletic exhibition at Washington Heights tomorrow evening. The Delaware Saengerbund, the largest and best known male chorus in Delaware, will appear in concert at the same time.

Wednesday will see an industrial parade in the afternoon under the general direction of a committee of which Joseph S. Wilson is the head. At least 150 decorated floats, employers and employees, will be in line. One of the feature floats in the parade will carry the Atlanta, the famous old engine of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. The engine was built in 1832; Joseph Brady, who ran the engine on its regular runs, will be at the throttle. Another feature will be an old stage coach of the Wells-Fargo Express Company, built in 1852, and once used on a regular stage line.

Fraternities will parade Wednesday evening, and it is estimated that 4000 men will be in line. Lu Lu Temple, of Philadelphia, will enter 1500 men and a band. All secret orders in the city will participate.

Thursday will witness the military parades in the afternoon and the parade of the Boy Scouts in the evening. In addition to the Delaware militia and the Delaware College cadets, militiamen from Pennsylvania, the regulars from Port Deposit and the military branches of a number of local orders will participate.

Friday afternoon local firemen, together with a number of visiting fire companies, will parade. In the evening Mardi Gras festivities will be held, ending with a mummies' parade, a general masked carnival and street dances with prizes.

Cash prizes will be offered to best decorated machines in the automobile parade Saturday afternoon. In the evening a river carnival will be held on the Christina river. There also will be a registered shoot on the grounds of the duPont Trapshooting Club in the afternoon.

Many invited guests, including the Mayor and a number of city officials, have accepted invitations to come here tomorrow. They will be entertained by Mayor Howell and special committees.

The accident happened at the Manhattan transfer station in West Hudson. At the hospital it was found that Lacey had suffered internal injuries, besides a double fracture of the hip. The accident, as near as could be learned, was due to a fall when the train, which was bound for Baltimore, stopped at the transfer point.

JUSTICE JAMES C. McREYNOLDS The former Attorney General of the Wilson Cabinet took his seat today on the bench of the United States Supreme Court.

JAMES McREYNOLDS SWORN AS MEMBER OF SUPREME COURT

Ex-Attorney General of United States Fills Vacancy Caused by Death of Justice Lurton.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—With impressive century-old ceremonies, the United States Supreme Court convened today for the October term, after the four months' recess and the final oath was administered to James C. McReynolds, who by this ceremony became a full-fledged Justice.

After the call of the clerk, members of the court filed in from the anteroom and took their places along the bench. McReynolds, introduced to the court by Chief Justice White, took the oath today bound the new justice to administer justice impartially between rich and poor, and was the final step in admitting him to the supreme bench.

Chief Justice White then called attention to the fact that a vacancy existed on the bench and that James C. McReynolds, of Tennessee, was present and duly accredited and qualified for the position. He greeted his new colleague, and welcomed him to the bench in the name of the entire court.

The clerk of the court, James D. Maher, then administered the "Justice" oath. The oath to support the Constitution was administered a month ago by Chief Justice White. The oath today bound the new justice to administer justice impartially between rich and poor, and was the final step in admitting him to the supreme bench.

After taking the oath, Justice McReynolds was escorted to the vacant place on the bench by the marshals. His seat was on the extreme left of the Chief Justice, or on the extreme right as one faces the court.

John W. Davis, Solicitor General of the United States, introduced to the court as the new Attorney General Thomas W. Gregory, who succeeded Justice McReynolds in Wilson's Cabinet.

With the ceremonies and formalities dispensed with, Chief Justice White announced the death, just three months ago today, of Justice Lurton, in whose place McReynolds was appointed. With this announcement the court adjourned out of session. No decisions were handed down today.

After leaving the courtroom the Justices drove to the White House, to pay their respects to President Wilson, and notified him that the court was again in session.

The first "decision day" will be next Monday. Less than a score of cases, many of importance, remain in the "breast of the court" undecided.

Actress Says Shaw Advocates Measure to End German Race.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Mrs. Patrick Campbell, the actress, is quoted here today as having said that G. Bernard Shaw, the English author, expressed the conviction that 75 per cent. of the women of Germany ought to be put to death, that the race might not multiply so fast and overrun the earth. But the actress explained, he declared, as with most things that are advisable to be done, there are practical difficulties.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Work will begin this week on the construction of the two tunnels under the East River for the new subway system. At present there are six railroad tubes under the Hudson River and nine under the East River. The dual system of rapid transit calls for the construction of three more tunnels, each consisting of two tubes, which will be built with the aid of compressed air by the shield method. Of the six tubes two will be built from 14th street; two will leave Manhattan at 10th and two will leave the foot of Whitehall street.

GIRL DEFIES ROBBER

She Brandishes Empty Pistol, But Is Seized and Bound.

HACKENSACK, N. J., Oct. 12.—With a revolver in the hands of a tall, determined man leveled at her head through the little ticket window of the Williams avenue station of the New Jersey and New York Railroad at Hackensack Heights, Miss Helen Merritt, who has been station agent there for six months, did not scream.

"I want all the money you've got there," demanded the man.

"I won't give you the money," replied Miss Merritt.

But when he raised the revolver a little and crashed a bullet through the glass over her head she did scream and rushed to a shelf, where lay an old, empty revolver. She seized it and aimed it at the robber's head.

"Throw up your hands!" commanded the courageous girl.

"No," said the robber. "You just throw over the money. And please don't make any more noise."

Miss Merritt pulled the trigger. There being no cartridges in the pistol, there was no dead robber in the station.

Instead, the man broke through the door, seized the girl and dragged her to a small baggage room, where he bound her, hand and foot, and placed a choking gag over her mouth. The gag was a green and white signal flag.

He ransacked the ticket office, and, although he obtained only $4.50, he was polite enough to return to the baggage room and bid Miss Merritt good-bye. He has not been seen since.

WAR TAX BILL UP IN CONGRESS FACES HOT GRILL

Senator Smoot Brands Measure as One of the Blunders of Economic Policy of Democrats.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—When the war tax bill was taken up in the Senate today, Senator Simmons, in charge of the bill, gave notice that later in the day he would ask unanimous consent that a vote on the bill be taken next Thursday.

"I won't consent to that unless we can get some action on legislation designed to aid the cotton producers in the South in the crisis due to the war in Europe," declared Senator Overman, of North Carolina, Senator Simmons' colleague. "I won't consent to fixing any time for a vote on this bill at present."

Senator Overman, in reply to questions by Senators Simmons, Smoot and others, modified his statement, saying that it was the intention of Southern Senators to offer a plan to aid the cotton producers as an amendment to the war tax bill and that they would be satisfied if they could get a vote on this amendment.

"I do not know," said Senator Overman, "if we will be ready to offer this amendment on Thursday, and for that reason I will object to setting a day for a vote at this time."

Senator William Alden Smith, of Michigan, asked Senator Simmons if he was making the request for a vote Thursday with the idea of an early adjournment of Congress. Senator Simmons replied that he was, and Senator Smith indicated that it would be satisfactory to him.

Senator Smoot, of Utah, attacked the war tax bill in a vigorous speech. He said that not content with imposing a direct tax upon incomes, the Democratic party was now proposing to levy a direct tax upon the income of the country estimated to raise $100,000,000.

"The war in Europe is the shameful pretext of the Democrats for demanding this legislation," said Senator Smoot. "This war is to be the excuse for every Democratic blunder that has been made. It is to be the Democratic Mother Hubbard to cover all the mistakes of the party. Yet millions of persons in this country, before the war broke out, were realizing that the economic policies of the Democratic party were failures."

Senator Smoot then launched into a detailed criticism of the Democratic tariff law.

LEAVES HER AGED SPOUSE

Mrs. Edward B. Alsop, 21 Years Old, Finds Husband Incompatible.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Mrs. Effie Pope Alsop, the pretty 21-year-old wife of the 75-year-old Washington and Pittsburgh millionaire, Edward B. Alsop, has separated from the latter. He is in Washington, while she occupies a studio apartment at 741 5th avenue.

"Oh, yes, I was miserably unhappy, and left Mr. Alsop in Washington three or four weeks ago," said Mrs. Alsop last night. "I was not satisfied to live with him any longer. I suppose the trouble was due to incompatibility. I understand he has refused to pay any debts contracted by me. I knew a separation would have to come sooner or later."

Mrs. Alsop's marriage, on February 11, 1912, attracted the attention of the entire country, because of the disparity of the ages.

A dispatch from Washington last night stated that Mr. Alsop is deeply affected by the attitude of his wife. He closed his beautiful residence on Massachusetts avenue to former friends and spent yesterday in absolute retirement.

It is understood that Mrs. Alsop found the peaceful life in Washington irksome.

RECTOR'S WIFE, ALLEGING CRUELTY, WANTS DIVORCE

Husband Says He Ordered Boarder From His House.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—On allegations of cruelty, Mrs. Margaret Lee has filed a suit for separation in the Supreme Court against the Rev. Burton Howard Lee, assistant pastor of Sing Sing Prison and rector of St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church in Ossining. Even the efforts of Bishop Greer to bring about a reconciliation between the couple have been without result.

Mrs. Lee sought to spare her husband the notoriety she believed would come from her action by filing it in Westchester County, and so brought the suit in New York County. In his answer to the suit, denying the allegations of cruelty made by his wife, Mr. Lee said that Mrs. Lee had not made any definite or substantial charges against him, whereupon Mrs. Lee filed a supplemental affidavit, amplifying her original charges.

The attention of Bishop Greer to the troubles of the Lees was indicated in a letter written by Mrs. Lee. Following this letter, the minister and his wife had a conference with the bishop. Mrs. Lee told him she wanted her freedom. Mr. Lee says Bishop Greer replied: "Why, Mrs. Lee, you and Mr. Lee cannot separate; you have no grounds. Such a course would harm both you and Mr. Lee."

The husband says he then interposed: "Bishop, Mrs. Lee is upset and nervous because I requested Thorpe Sturgis to leave. She has been sitting up nights with him in the kitchen, taking long walks with him at night and meeting him in New York without my consent. Her present condition is also due to the fact that she has been taking too much valerian. Bishop, I was a very poor boy and I worked very hard to get an education. Even after I was married I left a good position to go to the church. My reputation has always been as clean as a hound's tooth."

Damascened Metal Work

From Kyoto, Japan

There is probably no other nation in the world which has the artistic power of the Japanese in metals. We have just taken out of their foreign boxes some beautiful examples of their modern damascened work, personally ordered by our representative last spring.

In each piece the base of black metal or silver is inlaid with gold in the most exquisite minute designs—peacocks and flying birds, dragons, chrysanthemums, irises, sometimes a landscape or the few lines which stand for the beloved Fuji-yama.

Some pieces show the difficult enamel work besides the gold inlay.

The patient Nipponese craftsmen who create these things have specialized on them from childhood—one man makes dragons only, and knows every scale on their bodies, every curve of their tails; another has all the traditions of the chrysanthemum at his finger tips; another does wee, wee landscapes and nothing else.

Prices are very moderate—from 65c for a little brooch to $37.50 for a lovely jewel box.
